CONTENTS

PART ONE
Orientation to Small Group Systems

CHAPTER 1
Small Groups as the Heart of Society 2

Groups in Your Life 5
  Groups as Problem Solvers 6
  Participating in Groups 6
Groups Versus Individuals as Problem Solvers 7
  When a Group Is a Good Choice 9
  When a Group Is Not a Good Choice 9
Groups, Small Groups, and Small Group Theory 11
  Groups 11
  Small Groups 12
  Group Dynamics 13
  Communication 13
  Small Group Communication 14
Classifying Groups by Their Major Purpose 14
  Primary or Secondary Groups 14
    Primary Groups 15
    Secondary Groups 15
  Types of Secondary Groups 15
    Learning Groups 15
    Organizational Groups 16

Being a Valuable Group Member 18
Being an Ethical Group Member 19
The Participant-Observer Perspective 20
Summary 21
Review Questions 22
Bibliography 22
References 23

CHAPTER 2
Groups as Structured Open Systems 24

Overview of General Systems Theory 26
The Small Group as a System 27
  Definition of a System 27
  Concepts Vital to Understanding Systems 28
    Inputs 29
    Throughput Processes 29
    Outputs 31
    Environment 31
Characteristics of Systems 32
  Open and Closed Systems 32
  Interdependence 34
    Feedback 34
    Multiple Causes, Multiple Paths 35
    Nonsummativity 36
Life Cycles in the System 36
Organizations as Systems of Groups 37
Summary 39
Review Questions 40
Bibliography 40
References 40
CHAPTER 9
Procedures for a Problem-Solving Group 194

Scientific Method as the Basis for Problem Solving 198
Characteristics of Problems 199
Definition of Problem 199
Problem Solving Versus Decision Making 200
Problem Characteristics 201
Task Difficulty 201
Solution Multiplicity 201
Intrinsic Interest 201
Member Familiarity 201
Acceptance Level 202
Area of Freedom 203
The Procedural Model of Problem Solving (P-MOPS) 203
1. Describing and Analyzing the Problem 205
2. Generating and Explaining Possible Solutions 207
3. Evaluating Possible Solutions 207
Criteria for Evaluating Solutions 208
Narrowing a Long List of Proposed Solutions 209
Charting the Pros and Cons 209
4. Deciding on a Solution 209
5. Planning How to Implement the Solution 212
Applications of P-MOPS 212

PART FOUR
Special Techniques for Small Groups

CHAPTER 11
Group Techniques in Organizations 246

Generating Information and Ideas 249
Focus Groups 249
Buzz Groups 250
CHAPTER 12
Techniques for Observing Problem-Solving Groups 278

The Role of the Observer 280
Observation Instruments and Techniques 283
Verbal Interaction Analysis 283
Content Analysis Procedures 285
SYMLOG 288
Member/Observer Rating Scales 291
Rating Scales for General Evaluation 291
Postmeeting Reaction Forms 293
Evaluating Individual Participants 294
Evaluating Group Leadership 297

Summary 301
Review Questions 301
References 301

Index 303